SPOFFORD vs. KELLOGG.

THE DISPUTED LOUISIANA SENATORSHIP.

The Question of Paying Witness Fees Before the Committee---An Adjournment until To-Day.

WASHINGTON, June 10th.—The Spofford-Kellogg case was resumed. Judge Merrick for Judge Spofford said he had no witnesses to examine at present. He was entitled to two more, and expected they would be here, but preferred not to tell when as they might be captured by the other side. He should have some documentary evidence but it is not yet prepared. Senator Saulsbury, chairman, said as it seemed probable Congress would adjourn at the end of this or the commencement of next week, he doubted whether after the adjournment a quorum of the committee could be held together, therefore, it would be well to put in all available testimony by that time. Judge Shellabarger said that several of Kellogg's witnesses were expected to-morrow. Had none to-day. It was unanimously agreed by the committee that the affidavits heretofore offered be admitted as evidence. Mr. Merrick said he would put in his documentary evidence to-morrow.

Mr. Hill called up the question of paying Jules Seveignes his witness fees. He objected to the payment on the ground that witness had said he had deliberately and intentionally deceived the parties who subpenaed him. The Committee should protect itself and the Senate, and do nothing that would make it convenient for any man to come here at the expense of the Government and impose on somebody by testifying directly contrary to what he may have stated in affidavit or other form. There should be protection from such imposition. Mr. Kernan remarked he had never heard of a rule to deny payment of fees of a witness who had been subpenaed by the Government; besides, if pay were refused, it would be said it was for the reason of witness denying the truth of his affidavit and had sworn to something different. Mr. Bailey remarked that this witness was evidently a base and bad man, and merited the penitentiary; yet having been subpenaed by the Government he ought to be paid. Mr. Ingalls said his impression was from the testimony that witness imposed on Spofford's attorney for the purpose of disclosing a conspiracy the purpose of which was to deprive Kellogg of his seat. If the witness had not obeyed the subpena he would have been amenable to contempt. The chairman said that witness having obeyed the summons of the committee ought to be paid. Remarks were made by other Senators, when the question was taken on Mr. Hill's motion that Seveignes be not paid. Disagreed to, Messrs. Hill and Vance only voting in the affirmative; Messrs Kernan, Bailey, Cameron and Ingalls in the negative. Mr. Hoar not being present when the discussion took place excused himself from voting.

The committee adjourned till to-morrow.

Congress.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—SENATE.—At 12:50 p. m. the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was received from the House, and referred to the Committee on Appropriations. The concurrent resolution providing for adjournment on June 17th, was also received and referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

The resolution declaring the Warner silver bill before the Senate was lost. The McDonald bill relative to the use of the army and navy was postponed until to-morrow. The joint resolution to erect a monument on the birthplace of George Washington, was passed without a dissenting vote. The political disabilities of James F. Harrison, of Virginia, were removed.

HOUSE.—Mr. Morrison (Ill.), from Committee on Ways and Means, reported a resolution providing for the final adjournment of Congress at 12 o'clock on June 17th. Adopted.

Mr. Harris (Va.), asked leave to offer a joint resolution appropriating $3,000 for a monument to mark the birthplace of George Washington. He remarked that the house of Washington's parents had disappeared and that nothing remained to show to posterity where the Father of his Country was born. The Speaker as ked whether there was any objection to the joint resolution. Mr. Garfield: "None on this side, I am sure." There was no objection and the joint resolution was passed.

Mr. McMahon (Ohio) reported back from the Appropriation Committee the bill making appropriations for certain judicial expenses of the Government. It was referrred to Committee of the Whole, and the House immediately went into committee, all general debate on the bill being limited to forty minutes.

The Duer Trial.

SNOW HILL, Md., June 10.—On opening the court this morning Judge Wilson, announced that the court had decided to admit the prescriptions and testimony of the druggist (Lloyd) as tending to show the quantity of chloral administered.

Calvin Hughes was recalled and testified that the afternoon of the day of Miss Hearn's death he met Dr. Truitt, who said Miss Hearn would be well in a few days and that her wound was well. At 7 o'clock in the evening witness heard of her death.

C. C. Lloyd, druggist, was recalled, and his testimony was that according to his recollection after looking over all prescriptions that five ounces of chloral mixed with forty ounces of water went from his store to Hearn's family between November 18th and December 4th.

The Labor Question.

This is one of the oldest questions known to political economy. The warfare between capital and labor has been going on for the last 4,000 years, more or less, and is still raging. For bad blood take Rosadalis, the great Southern Remedy. Warranted to cure all scrofulous humors, eruptions, &c., and cleanse the system of all impurities. *

Death Occurred Too Soon.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 10.—Parr, the murderer of his daughter, died this morning. All his immediate relatives are now in custody, and a rigid investigation will be had with a view of discovering by whom the poison was conveyed to him.

Italian Affairs.

ROME, June 10.—Four soldiers and several civilians have been killed in public disturbances occasioned by the collection of taxes at Calatabiano, Sicily, and troops have gone from Catania to suppress the disorders. The waters of the River Po are subsiding but the surrounding country is desolated.

The Louisiana Bondholders Protest

LONDON, June 10.—The Times' financial article says that at the request of a committee of Louisiana bondholders, the chairman of the council has sent a protest to the Governor of Louisiana against any attempt of the State Convention now sitting, to reduce the State debt as arranged under the refunding act of 1874.

Correspondence of the News.

WINSTON, June 9.—Many of our people are sick and the rest complaining, affected by our annual local pest, caused by the changeable weather and early vegetables. We are looking forward to the celebration of the Fourth of July, with the expectation of seeing quite a number of dignitaries as well as an enormous crowd from the rural districts. Eugene Gray, Esq., of our town is to deliver the address, and we feel sure of a treat, for he is an able and talented young lawyer,

The closing exercises of the Winston Male Academy came off in Tise's Hall last Tuesday night, and although the rain fell in torrents quite a large and intelligent audience was present. This Institution is in a flourishing condition, this last year being one of its most prosperous.

Last Saturday Mr. L. L. Polk, Commissioner of Agriculture addressed our people on the subject of agriculture. The audience was small, but very attentive, and he spoke for about two hours, yet held the undivided attention of every man. He spoke in a plain, forcible, fearless enthusiastic style stating facts, the truth and principles. Taking his discourse from beginning to close, we can truly say we never heard a better nor more interesting one. We regret that the speaker could not have had an audience of the leading farmers of the whole county, for he would have awakened the latent energies, aroused the slumbering mind and general ideas which would finally lead to great results. We trust the earnest speaker may visit us again soon and stir our agricultural interests into activity. Mr. G. W. Henshaw, of this section, deserves our thanks for the interest he has taken in the meeting.

Rev. Dr. Clark, of Pittsburg, Pa., who delivered the Commencement address at Yadkin College, was billed to lecture here Saturday night, but his delicate health prevented, hence we were all disappointed.

Kindergarten (Child's Garten) School at Peace Institute.

Correspondence of the News.

RALEIGH, June 10.—"Child's Garden"—this intellectual retreat where the youthful mind under this new and attractive feature in teaching is led on, culling the most beautiful and inspiring thoughts and discarding the noxious and vicious. Your short notice hardly did justice to the closing exercises of the school.

The Bible recitation, where children under five years old, repeated fifty verses, much to the astonishment of the very intelligent audience, composed of our distinguished judges, ministers, etc. The Sacred Song, beautiful in recitation, impressive in sentiment, was a subject of praise from the audience. The Calisthenic Motion Song was a novel feature in our system of youthful training.

Mental Arithmetic was made easy and attractive by the new features introduced by this principle, the difficult multiplication table, the bane of all beginners, is made easy and pleasant. The Kindergarten class order was more than admired, developing such wonderful culture in children, many not over five years of age, running through the creative universe and handling with a master's mind the organisms of nature in the animal, mineral and vegetable kingdoms, giving class, order and formation with wonderful skill and ease. Much credit is due to the Messrs. Burwell, of the "Peace," and to the lady Principal and her accomplished Assistant for this intellectual treat. C.

Fire at Whitakers.

Correspondence of the News.

WHITAKERS, June 9.—As a subscriber of your paper, I will furnish a meager account of the fire at Whitakers last night. The whole block of buildings on the north side of Main street was entirely destroyed; loss from $12,000 to $18,000, about one-third covered by insurance. List of sufferers: J. H. Cutchin's store, and loss on goods, J. M. Mayo, store; Wm. Edmonds, loss on stock. R. Tyler, store, and loss on stock. Hyman's store; C. B. Broswell, loss on stock. C. R. King, store; Julius Meyers, loss on stock. Henry Deal, store; Simon Meyers, loss on stock. Charles Neumans, loss on stock, etc. J. M. Cutchin, slight loss on store; J. W. Johnson, loss on stock. It is not known whether the fire was from incendiarism or accident. But for the course of the wind, much more of the town would have been burned. J.

Radicalism in Maine.

Boston Herald.

If Mr. Blaine could spend a week traveling among the people whom he represents he would see the blunder which is being made. Beyond the active politician, not a single soul in the State cares one straw about "the threatened new rebellion" we read of. Such puerile trash has ceased to frightened anybody, and the only feeling the current abuse of the South and her representatives excites is one of disgust that able and intelligent men should think they can win votes by fostering the spirit of discord in the nation for their own selfish ends. Mr. Blaine will find this out before September. He should go and talk to the common people and the old soldiers. They could teach him many things he does not know. It is not yet too late for his party to realize the full magnitude of the impending danger, and those who do not want to see a New England State carried by an inflation, rag-money party must be up and doing. But "a new rally to put down the rebellion" will not put down the honest men who though misguided and misinstructed, are thoroughly in earnest, eager for a change, and hopeful of accomplishing it. The rag baby can't be smothered with a bloody shirt.

THE COMMENCEMENTS.

THE LAUNCH-OUT OF THE RISING GENERATION.

Wake Forest College--Peace Institute --Baptist Female Seminary--A Musical Evening.

The occasion thus far promises to be the most attractive in the history of the institution. The crowd of visitors is large and every train increases the number. The opening exercises took place in the chapel last night in the presence of a large, brilliant and deeply interested audience. It was a competition for the medal to be awarded to the best declaimer. Ten young men contended for the prize, and all acquitted themselves well, but Mr. McDuffy, of Fayetteville, received the medal, Rev. Jno. A. Broadus, D. D., Rev. J. D. Hufham and Dr. Ben. Powers were the judges.

To-day (Tuesday) is given up to the board of trustees, and there have been no exercises of a public character whatever; still, there have been no signs of dullness. The young gentlemen and young ladies have found means of entertainment for each other, and the older people who have come from a distance have found enough to interest them.

Professor W. G. Simmons, chairman of the faculty, in his annual report gave a highly encouraging statement of the condition and prospects of the Institution. The number of students, which has been steadily increasing for three years, was larger during the session just closed than at any time since the war. The moral tone of the college is sufficiently exhibited in the fact that only two cases of discipline occurred during the session. The graduating class consists of twelve members, some of them young men of brilliant talents.

The report of the treasurer shows that, though there has been no agent in the field, there has been a small increase in the permanent endowment fund.

At a full meeting of the Board of Trustees to-day, Rev. Henry McDonald, D.D., of Richmond, Va., was unanimously elected President, as successor to the late Dr. W. M. Wingate, D. D.

General Ransom is expected to-night. He will deliver the address before the literary societies to-morrow.

Rev. John A. Broadus, D.D., one of the finest scholars and pulpit orators of the South, will preach the annual sermon to-night.

PEACE INSTITUTE.

The massive building, with its huge porticos and immense columns wore a festive appearance in honor to the commencement exercises of which last night was the beginning. At an early hour the young ladies were "lightly tripping" up and down stairs, here and there in the large, airy halls, eager with excitement and animated with the flush of ambitious hopes. They were lovely, the elegant costumes enhancing the beauty for which these young ladies of Peace Institute are noted.

The exercises were opened by the grand march of the whole school, who formed in double-file at exactly 8:30 o'clock (they always move like a clock at Peace) in the following order: The "Kindergarten class," then the Day scholars;" then the "Singing class," and then the beautiful "Senior Page," who was followed by Mr. Burwell and his corps of teachers. It was a long train, and the most accurate time was observed, while Mrs. Baumann and Miss Agnes Lacy played the marching piece as the procession filed in. The young ladies taking the left of the stage and the teachers the right. In the center of the stage sat Dr. Atkinson, at whose left was Rev. S. M. Smith, the the orator. The stage was artistically adorned, and the hangings were graceful and in good taste. The whole scene, taking in the fashionable audience and all the decorations of the large room, was beautiful to behold.

A prayer was offered up by Dr. Atkinson.

The entertainment began. The grand anthem. "XXIIId Psalm," was a splendid beginning, it just prepared one for anything you like, and everybody did like it. There was a splendid chance to pay a compliment to the vocal solo, "The Lost Chord," by Miss N. B., who has such a full and mellow voice; but right here Mr. Smith rose and delivered his address. It was a real treat, and for thirty-two minutes—he held the closest attention of his audience. "A very fine address," was immediately passed all around as soon as he concluded. Miss. R., Miss A. W., and Miss S. M., each separately took complete possession of the grand piano, and such grand solos on the piano has not been heard in Raleigh—well, hardly ever, if at all—which of the three was the best, it would take a Rubinstein to tell.

The vocal solo from "Sonnambula," was a surprise to all. The audience had no idea Miss P. could sing so well, she was equal to a regular cantatrice, and while the announcement of distinctions was being made the audience had a fair chance, which was diligently improved, to discuss the beauties of the entertainment so far. Now and then the blonde flower boy and the curly haired gallant, with the white teeth, were seen bobbing up and down among the ladies, and what they didn't know about it, well——, while we were turning it over in our mind, the audience had another surprise. Miss McC. had just finished "the most splendid recitation I ever heard, she has an histrionic talent rarely surpassed," and no one gainsaid it. Tears were in many an eye before she concluded.

The awards and Bible presentations were handsomely done, and after Miss M's brilliant piano solo and the "Parting Song," by the vocal class, the audience were invited to go up stairs and behold the gems of art in painting and drawing. It was more than they all expected, and they, of course, are to be excused for staying up there so long. It is an art gallery that will do credit to the professional hand.

As the throng were passing from the southern portal, the reporter made a note by the way. An elderly lady remarked to her companion after a parting shake of the hand with Mr. Burwell, said she "Mr. Burwell is a splendid man, and many a valuable thought in the young mind implants," and immediately a young man jumped before them with his right hand outstretched exclaimed, "and so do his sisters, and his cousins and his aunts." That young man has been practicing "Pinafore," even to the exclusion of the pleasure that the presence of his sweet wife grants.

NOTE.—Professor Baumann has been confined at home from severe indisposition for the past week and was not sufficiently recovered to be present last night and take charge of the music. It is but just to this gentleman's eminent reputation to note the careful and thorough training the young lady musicians have received at his hands, since each performed her part as well as if the professor had presided at his old post.

THE BAPTIST FEMALE SEMINARY.

The spacious edifice known as the "Raleigh Female Seminary," was all aglow with lights and presented a festive scene last night. The buildings are so closely wedded to each other that the effect at night, as one approaches from the front, is that of a grand and shapely pile. The occasion of these festivities was the concert announced for the last evening of Commencement. The audience was large and appreciative, and those present connected by home ties with those of the singers who made their debut last evening may surely be pardoned if they felt a thrill of pleasure at the success of their nearest and dearest ones. The young ladies, attired in concert costume, entered the chapel at 8:30 o'clock and took their places. Then the opening chorus, "The Gipsies," was rendered in an almost faultless manner by the vocal class, followed by the remainder of the programme as published. There is but little use in our commending it—it pleased the audience both in style and execution, and each done her part well. An entertainment of this kind is outside the pale of criticism as compared with the renditions of the trained and experienced prima donnes of the stage or concert room; but the fresh, sweet voices had that indescribable charm about them that is seldom apparent in those that have passed the line and are ranked high in artistic circles. The Italian song, "Ah che Assorta," by Miss Hunter, was conceded by all to be the effort of the evening, and met with an encore which was responded to; Miss Briggs, in "Storm and Sunshine," and the recitative and aria by Miss McDaniel, also met with pronounced favor. The instrumental portion was finely rendered, and one noticeable feature of the solos was that they were given without notes. It might be considered unjust to particularize further, so will conclude with a few words of praise of Professor Bohlmann, under whose careful tutelage the young ladies of the Institute have gained their thorough musical proficiency. A master of the art, he also possesses the rare faculty of imparting instruction—a faculty that many adepts are deficient in. His efforts during his connection with the Institute were plainly shown in the skill and graceful action of his pupils.

THE PROGRAMME.

We append the programme as a matter of interest:

Breaking the Schedule---Whose Loss is it?

Charleston News and Courier.

The new through schedules from Charleston and other points to Hendersonville and Asheville are broken up by the failure of the Spartanburg and Asheville Railroad to fulfill its engagements. At considerable trouble the schedules were so arranged as to accommodate the idiosyncracies of the Spartanburg and Union and Spartanburg and Asheville Railroads, which are under one management, but when the first through train reached Spartanburg it was found that the train for Hendersonville had started some time before, and that passengers must remain in Spartanburg until the following evening, about 22 hours.

No warning of the change he had made was given by Mr. Anderson, the Superintendent of the Spartanburg, Union and Asheville line. The excuse is that the Air-Line Railroad had suddenly changed its schedule, and it was necessary to send off the train for Hendersonville as soon as the Charlotte train arrived, without waiting for the train from Columbia and Charleston, by way of Alston and Union. Rather than detain the passengers and mails arriving by the Air-Line Railroad for an hour, Mr. Anderson holds back the Charleston and low country mail for nearly twenty-four hours, and gives up the most valuable part of his summer travel. A poor excuse is better than none. We fancy that the real reason for the sudden change of purpose has not been given.

Upon Mr. Anderson's roads and upon the Blue Ridge summer resorts the effect of the break of connection will be serious, if not disastrous. Passengers "will not submit to lie over twenty-four hours going to the mountains, "nor eighteen on the return." Spartanburg Spartan is right in saying so. Already the travel from Wilmington, for which special provision was made, is turned back to Goldsboro', and goes to Asheville by way of the Western North Carolina Railroad. The tourists from lower South Carolina will go around by way of Charlotte, or will take the old route by way of Greenville. Spartanburg will lose hundreds of visitors, and Greenville, Anderson and Walhalla will be built up at her expense. There is no obligation upon anybody to go to Hendersonville or Asheville. A rush in that direction was expected this season because fares were low, and the trains were to run through, without break, to the very heart of the mountains. The travelers will now move in other directions, seeking summer homes in this State, or in Georgia, and avoiding such spots as are made, by Mr. Anderson, harder to reach than New York.

The Spartanburg roads are cutting their own throats, and thrusting Spartanburg into the background, for no other reason, that we can surmise, than to curry favor with the Air-Line Railroad. It is no concern of the summer tourists. They can and will make other arrangements. The recalcitrant roads and the people of the injured region will be left to fight it out among themselves. Every possible concession was made by the managers of the Wilmington, Charleston and Greenville lines when the late through schedule was determined upon. They have no inclination to go further, or do more.

A PRESIDENTIAL BID.

A NEW CANDIDATE FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

A Man Who Cannot be Injured by Investigation of His Past History.

Mark Twain has published the following open letter to his countrymen of either or any party:

I have pretty much made up my mind to run for President. What the country wants is a candidate who cannot be injured by investigation of his past history, that the enemies of the party will be unable to rake up anything against him that nobody ever heard of before. If you know the worst about a candidate to begin with, every attempt to spring things on him will be checkmated. Now I am going to enter the field with an open record. I am going to own up in advance to all the wickedness I have done and if any Congressional committee is disposed to prowl around my biography, in the hope of finding any dark and deadly deed that I have secreted, why—let it prowl.

In the first place, I admit that I treed a rheumatic grandfather of mine in the winter of 1850. He was old and inexpert in climbing trees, but with the heartless brutality that is characteristic of me, I ran him out of the front door in his night shirt at the point of a shot gun and caused him to bowl up a maple tree, where he remained all night while I emptied shot into his legs. I did this because he snored. I will do it again if ever I have another grandfather. I am as inhuman now as I was in 1850.

I candidly acknowledge that I ran away at the battle of Gettysburg. My friends have tried to smother over this fact by asserting that I did so for the purpose of imitating Washington, who went into the woods at Valley Forge for the purpose of saying his prayers. It was a miserable subterfuge. I struck out in a straight line for the Tropic of Cancer because I was scared. I wanted my country saved, but I preferred to have somebody else save it. I entertain that preference yet. If the bubble reputation can be obtained only at the cannon's mouth, I am willing to go there for it, provided the cannon is empty. If it is loaded, my immortal and flexible purpose is to get over the fence and go home. My invariable practice in war has been to bring out of every fight two-thirds more men than I had when I went in. This seems to me to be Napoleonic in its grandeur.

My financial views are of the most decided character, but they are not likely, perhaps, to increase my popularity with the advocates of inflation. I do not insist upon the special supremacy of rag money or hard money. The great fundamental principle of my life is to take any kind I can get.

The rumor that I buried a dead aunt under my grapevine was correct. The vine needed fertilizing, my aunt had to be buried, and I dedicated her to this high purpose. Does that unfit me for the Presidency? The Constitution of our country does not say so. No other citizen was ever considered unworthy of this office because he enriched his grapevines with his dead relatives. Why should I be selected as the first victim of an absurd prejudice?

I admit also that I am not a friend of the poor man. I regard the poor man, in his present condition, as so much wasted raw material. Cut up and properly canned, he might be made useful to fatten the natives of the cannibal islands and to improve our export trade with that region. I shall recommend legislation upon the subject in my first message. My campaign cry will be: Dessicate the poor workingman; stuff him into sausages!

These are about the worst parts of my record. On them I come before the country. If my country don't want me, I will go back again. But I recommend myself as a safe man—a man who starts from the basis of total depravity and proposes to be fiendish to the last.

Well we tried raising pigs because sensible folks said it "was better to feed a pig than a dog," but our pigs died with the cholera and we bogged a dog. The dog is of fine blood—cross between a Pointer and Setter, i. e. "sets" at the kitchen door with his nose pointed at the spot. We cannot see that we have any use for him, have nothing around the house that a rogue would steal, have not been troubled with visits by our friends oftener than we could appreciate, still he is on hand and shows not only a willingness to eat all our spare rations, but any of our friends whom he might catch in the yard, and we are very careful, indeed, to find out if he is securely chained before venturing into the yard. If we don't soon make friends with him we'll be asking the question, "Keyser don't you wan't to buy a dog."

We are shown to-day some samples of Orchard grass measuring over four feet. This grass was grown here in Newbern, and will be forwarded to Commissioner Polk. It has been said, that this grass could not be successfully cultivated here; and why, pray? The samples shown us flatly contradicted this assertion. We would ask, what is there that flourishes between the St. Lawrence and the Rio Grande, that can not be successfully grown in some part of North Carolina. We are all more or less prone to decry our own native State. We are sadly deficient in State pride; our neighbors Virginia and South Carolina have seemingly absorbed our share of this needful requisite.

A young man named Benton, who is said to be an Englishman and came to Charlotte several weeks ago, was drawned while bathing in Phifer's pond, late yesterday afternoon. He and a man named Rogers went in the pond together. Benton sank very suddenly and is supposed to have been taken with the cramp. Since he came to Charlotte he has been engaged in repairing sewing machines.

Mr. Smart has just finished a three days' run of ore at the Rudisill mine, working in this time 71,000 lbs.—about 35 tons—and the result is a lump of amalgam weighing 488 pwts. The estimated value of this is $200, and as the operating expenses of the mine are but $28 per day, a simple calculation will show the net profit from these three days' work—$116 clear profit. If this is not "coining the money" it is certainly the next thing to it.

Two elections on the prohibitory liquor law were held in Mecklenburg day before yesterday, one in Paw Creek township and the other in Lemley's township. The vote in each township was quite small. In Paw Creek the wet ticket led by a majority of 60; in Lemley's the dry ticket carried by a majority of 28. The prohibitory law now exists in over half of the townships of the county.

While the Rev. Mr. Conolly, a Baptist preacher from Asheville, was on his way to Watauga and Ashe counties to fill appointments there, he was stopped on Tow river by a man with a keg of moonshine whisky on his shoulder and a pistol in his hand, who told him that he could go no further. The chap supposed that the parson was a revenue officer and did not intend to let him proceed. This mistake was hard on the clergy or the revenue officials, we don't know which, but seriously it is high time that these violators of the law were brought to justice. When a peaceable citizen cannot travel the public road without being stopped by a desperado with pistol in hand the law should be enforced with the utmost rigor.

Elizabeth City Carolinian.

We hear of several parties—men of enterprise and with means—who are looking forward to making business investments in Elizabeth City. They are only watching and waiting to see the railroad current reach the point beyond all danger of ebbing. When the bridges are built and the laying of rails begin, not these parties alone, but many others also, will take advantage of the sure opening here for business success.

A CHINESE DINNER.

How a Hartford Lady Got Through with Twenty Courses.

Hartford Courant, June 8th.

A letter from a lady formerly living here, who is now the wife of an American official in China, writes to her friends at home an account of a ceremonious dinner which she attended recently. The feast was given by the "deputy" and was attended by only seven persons, three American gentlemen, two American ladies and two Chinese men, besides the host. Describing the deputy as a "lovely old man," the letter says:

He passed to me first a cup of hot wine with a graceful bow; it was only after that that one could sit down. He made the tour of the table and gave each guest his wine, accompanied by the chin-chins (bow) from both parties. Before each guest were three plates about the size of a little girl's tea set plate—three inches in diameter. On these plates we ate all of our dinner except the soups, which were put before us in small bowls. Each one had his chop-sticks and a two-pronged silver fork. In a few moments, as Mrs. M. and I could not use them very well, we were given our own forks and knives. At each place was a big pile of melon and apricot seeds, and this pile was replenished constantly during the four hours' we were at the table. Between the courses everybody was cracking and eating away at the melon seeds. They were not very good, of course, yet it was amusing to nibble at them, and they came in hot from the oven, and on the whole did not taste badly. On the table when we sat down were eight dishes of preserved fruit of different kinds. They were all on those small dishes, but put one on top of the other to make a kind of pyramid, and in a row along the center of the table were other dishes larger in size and holding the more substantial things. On one were slices of lobster and salted walnuts—very good, both of them. On another were goose gizzards cut in thin slices. On another shrimp salad, and on another thin slices of chicken. These were all meant to give an appetite for the dinner which followed. I sat next to the old deputy and he helped me from all the different dishes within his reach—only a mouthful or so from each, though. When we had tried all these things the first course was brought on, and, as I suppose you imagine, it was "bird's nest soup," and very good too. We have nothing like it at home. After that we had stewed chicken with young onion sprouts. The third course was cold mutton served with raw turnip cut in long, thin strips.

Fourth, awfully good, was pigeon eggs in a kind of acid soup.

Fifth, cucumbers stuffed with copped fish.

Sixth, roast chicken served in very small bits with mushrooms.

Seventh, sharks' fins.

Eighth, mutton dumplings.

[After that there was a little rest, and we walked about the garden, going to work again after a half-hour.]

Ninth, pork soup.

Tenth, stewed mussels.

Eleventh, champignons and spinach made together.

Twelfth, ham in slices.

Thirteenth, stewed pigeons and bean curd.

Fourteenth, fish.

Fifteenth, the muscles or fibers of flowers.

Sixteenth, sea slugs (something awful to look at, just like leeches with pimples on them).

Seventeenth, mushrooms and bamboo sprouts made together.

Eighteenth, cakes and bitter almond sauce.

Nineteenth, an entire roast pig.

[It was brought on and then taken away and carved for us. I thought the dinner at an end when we had the cakes and was taken aback to see this animal make its appearance. They served first the crack or skin. It was a No. 1, and we began to each eat anew; second, they served the lean meat; third, they served some fat, and then something else, all four from the pig.]

Twentieth, rice, with chicken soup, salted cabbage, salt bean curd, chestnuts grown in water and I don't know what.

After that tea, and it was over.

This was followed by a two days' headache.

THE LAND PIRATE.

A GIGANTIC SWINDLE IN THE STATE OF GEORGIA.

An Organized Band of Land Pirates Unearthed, Whose Transactions Have Been on a Large Scale.

Atlanta Constitution.

For ten years past there has been a species of rascality in successful operation in many parts of Georgia. We refer to the forging of wild land certificates, to which are attached counterfeits of the great seal of the State. This business has gone on so long that there is no telling how many of the bogus certificates have gone out to swindle innocent purchasers. It is said that there have been several organized gangs of these swindlers who have pushed their villainous schemes with remarkable success.

About two years ago a gentleman informed the Secretary of State that in a printing office in Atlanta several hundred land grants had been printed for the use of one these gangs. In other places in the State there have been frequent operations of the same kind. The sharpers have bogus land grants printed. They learn the names of justices of the peace in various counties and somehow they procure their signatures. These are artfully counterfeited and signed to the certificates. To make the bogus instrument complete a fac simile of the great seal of the State is attached thereto, and the swindler disposes of his homemade certificate for a paltry sum to anybody he can take in. Usually these fraudulent papers are offered for $2 each. It is said that many of them first go into the hands of what are known as land-sharks or speculators in wild land. They in turn dispose of them to honest men for a mule or anything they can get. Frequently lands with perfect titles are exchanged for these bogus certificates. While this crooked business has been in vogue for at least ten years it appears that all efforts to suppress it and to catch the criminals have been unavailing. The fault has been mainly with the local authorities. There is no way to stop this rascality except for the authorities of each county where it is practiced to take hold of the matter and search it to the bottom. There are such large quantities of wild lands in Georgia that these counterfeiters have had ample material on which to operate. Their business has been particularly lively during the past two years. Frequently parties have brought the bogus land grants to the Secretary of State for verification. They are instantly detected. The imitation of the seal is usually very good, but sometimes is a little rough in finish and in nearly every case larger than the genuine.

Recently there have been very bold and successful operations in this line in northwestern Georgia on the Alabama line. There is said to be a regularly organized gang in this traffic, which has proven disastrous to the hopes of many a poor fellow. In April, 1878, a man named Lambert, who is said to have been one of the gang, was assassinated in Polk county by unknown parties. It has always been the belief there that he was killed by two men named J. M. Rowe and Horatio Chisolm, his partners in the wild land frauds. They had a difficulty, and to prevent Lambert from disclosing the secrets of the gang his former confederates are said to have put him out of the way. Rowe and Chisolm have disappeared from Polk county. The Governor offored a reward for the apprehension of the murderer of Lambert, but as yet the matter remains in bloody mystery. It is said that this same man Chisolm, about two years ago, went into the office of the Secretary of State and asked to see the wild land books for several of the northern counties. He was shown the papers which he wished to see and was soon observed copying off the diagrams of the wild land plots. He was informed that it was against the rules of the office to allow any one such a liberty, whereupon he apologized very politely and retired. He was a man of very pleasing address. At the time referred to he was probably in Atlanta arranging some scheme of swindling, such as he has since carried out so boldly. Both he and Rowe are said to be desperate men who have defied the authorities of Polk county more than once. There are true bills against both in that county for forgery. It is said that Chisolm has vowed vengeance against some of the attorneys and witnesses against him in Cedartown. Just before the recent fire he was seen near that place. While this seems to be the boldest gang in the land forgery business, yet there are doubtless in other parts of the State similar organizations who work by slyer but not less successful methods.

There is absolutely no telling how many bogus land grants there are now in Georgia. Whether the investigation of the wild land committee, now going on, will touch this particular part of the subject or not cannot be ascertained yet. It is probable, however, that the more light that is thrown on the general subject of wild land speculations, the more apparent will become all such frauds as those described above. In several of the counties where such villainy has been most common the authorities have a number of suspected parties spotted and will bring them to justice. If the same vigilance were adopted wherever the rascals ply their game they would soon be brought to a stop and further frauds upon the Government and innocent prevented.

Delicacy of Mint Scales.

New Orleans Times.

The fine gold-weighing scales made in Philadelphia for the New Orleans Mint, and placed in position yesterday, are marvels of mechanical invention and accurate workmanship. The larger of the two has a capacity of 10,000 ounces troy, or about 686 pounds avoirdupois, and when loaded to its full weight, will indicate a variation of 1-1000 part of its weighing capacity. Another pair of scales is the one intended for weighing gold only. It has bearings composed of the finest agates, which have been ground with wonderful precision. So delicate is this machine that it will give the precise weight of a human hair, and is susceptible to the slightest atmospheric changes. Millions of dollars worth of precious metals will be weighed annually upon these scales.

Interesting to the Fifth avenue clubs: Those people who do not believe in advertising in the newspapers will soon have an opportunity to advertise in one of their favorite mediums. An agent will soon be here who will hire all the space on the bottom of gentlemen's boots. This agent will then canvass the village and obtain advertisements, which he agrees to mark with colored chalk, fresh every morning, on the soles of said boots. We heartily indorse the project and think the plan splendid. When a man sits down after dinner and elevates his feet on a hotel or boarding-house piazza the advertiser will have the sole benefit of this splendid method as passers-by stop and read their announcements.—Whitehall Times.

HUSSEY & JORDAN, PROPRIETORS

JOHN B. HUSSEY, - - Editor.

A SENATORIAL DEMAGOGUE.

Oregon is a fine State. It has been greatly landed for the good things that have been raised within its confines. Its climate is remarkably fine; its salmon fisheries the greatest in the world; the amount of cereals it produces in proportion to the number of tilled acres is simply immense; there are fine rivers and huge mountains; also great forests, well stocked with Indians. There have been some great men raised within its borders, and others who have migrated there from other States have achieved a certain degree of greatness (such as it is). But of all those Oregonians who have acquired or will acquire a national reputation none can compare, so far as liberal views, a broad-gauge spirit and a wonderful insight into the workings of the political future are concerned, with the Hon. James H. Slater, junior United States Senator from that State, who proposes to regulate Chinese immigration with a vengeance. He has introduced a bill which "provides that "from and after July 1, 1880, they shall "be prohibited from engaging in indus"trial pursuits of any description, either "as artisans, agriculturists or laborers, "and from owning or holding real es"tate except for residences or commer"cial purposes. It also prohibits their "employment by citizens or corpora"tions in any capacity, except as inter"preters and teachers of the Chinese "language, and allows them to be em"ployed otherwise only by other sub"jects of China traveling or residing in "the United States for purposes of curi"osity or trade and commerce. Penal"ties of fine or imprisonment are pre"scribed for violations of these provis"ions."

Senator Slater must be one of those lucky men who have had "greatness thrust upon them," for it is positively certain that no man of ordinary ability or good sense would have ventured to draft such a bill for consideration by the national legislature. At first it appeared as if it might be a burlesque, but as it has been referred to the appropriate committee this illusion is dispelled. Senator Slater is a lawyer and a professional politician, and he surely ought to know that the letter of such a bill as he advocates is directly arrayed against the spirit of our institutions. We have a standing invitation for foreigners to come to this country and settle; it has been conclusively shown that immigration is a material source of wealth to the country at large, and in no portion of the public domain is foreign immigration more needed than in the South; yet if Congressional enactment can thus restrict the Chinese it can also restrict other foreigners. And we cannot afford to indulge in any such narrowness.

There is and has been a strong feeling entertained and fostered against Chinese immigration, and the display of this feeling has tended more than anything else to increase the effects of the evil complained of. If a more liberal spirit was displayed toward immigrants, no matter of what nationality, there would be less "colonizing"—and this clannishness is the strongest point made against the Chinese. This same spirit has been shown toward the Irish, and an association has been formed for establishing distinctively Irish colonies in the West while the South has already felt the effects of the Kansas colonization scheme. Such a policy if carried out would make the country a sort of mosaic composed of patches from Ireland, Germany, England, China, etc., and instead of a people united in a common interest and undertaking to use a common language, we would have a people agreeing in nothing but a common antagonism. This is not Europe, or Asia, or Africa, but America, and all who come here are entitled to the rights of Americans. The foreigner should be secure in his rights in any part of the country—should be free to go where he will; and the plan of national colonization should be condemned by all who have any hope for our future as a people.

The display of a truly liberal feeling would do more to segregate such colonies of foreign immigrants than anything else, and the members being thus scattered throughout the land the evils complained of would disappear.

PERHAPS mankind in general in this hemisphere has got past the possibility of being astonished by revelations about the politics of Louisiana. People who are still capable of emotion concerning the subject will find matter enough, however, to excite it in the testimony of De Lacy and the rest, and in the arrest of one witness, Johnson. It is perfectly evident that the witnesses were prepared to swear according to the bids they received, and one of them admitted as much. A Congressional inquiry in the course of which manifest perjury could be committed with impunity would be even less reputable and less fruitful than the common run of Congressional inquiries. One of two things must be true about the evidence of Johnson, the colored ex-legislator from DeSoto Parish, Louisiana. Either he perjured himself in his affidavit or in his viva voce examination—either Mr. Spofford's friends were guilty of subornation of perjury in getting him to take his affidavit in April, or else Mr. Kellogg's friends were guilty of the same offense in inducing him to swear that the statements in the affidavit were false. But be this as it may, there is only one conclusion to be arrived at. Some one ought to be arrested, prosecuted and sent to the penitentiary before this matter is finally wound up; and it is well, therefore, that the work has begun with Johnson.

THE most absurd claim made now-a-days is that of the "stalwart" Republicans that the President has made a mistake by his liberal course, that he now sees his mistake, and retraces his steps. They find that he is in sympathy with the party once more;—"we are all 'stalwarts' now," says General Garfild;—and, knowing how he was denounced not long ago, they naturally think he must have changed. The mistake is theirs. The President made none. He simply recognized the obligations of the Constitution, and ceased unconstitutional interference with the local governments. The attitude of the local governments had nothing to do with his work. His duty was plain, and he tried to do it. It may be that he was disappointed in the result of his course in the South; he may be too much inclined just now to listen to the arguments of extreme men in favor of stretching the constitutional power of the National Government. But he made no mistake before.

THE Philadelphia Times takes a most hopeful and cheering view of the situation. It believes that the foundation of the present revival of business is so broad and so impregnable, that speculators and gamblers are powerless to turn back the advancing tide. With the national credit so firmly established that none but helpless lunatics will henceforth question it, the fountain of national prosperity must pour out its healthful streams into every circle of industry, and gradually increasing thrift is inevitable.

IN President Grant's days the Republican papers used to publish in capital letters how much the national debt had been reduced during the previous month, and claim great credit to the party for having paid out the money that the people had raised. They do this no longer, and for good reasons. The national debt is now steadily increasing each month. The report for May shows an increase of $6,225,020 during that month—a rather too rapid growth to be pleasant.

THERE is no good reason assignable for not paying out the fractional currency redemption fund on pension arrearages, and all efforts to defeat such disposal of that money should be promptly overridden. To keep eight or ten millions lying idle in the Treasury, as a provision against an impossible contingency, is worse than folly. To hold it thus and turn pensioners away unpaid, would be a crime.

NORTHERNERS who wish to escape death by consumption should go down to Mississippi, where they shoot a man every day.—Boston Herald.

And Southerners who wish their daughters to escape death from yellow fever should send them to school in Massachusetts where the boys stone school girls to death.

Repentance and Restoration.

Springfield Republican.

Dreadful speech, that of Wade Hampton's in the United States Senate on Thursday! How it would have sounded, if uttered in Springfield by a man on crutches! "In no event can I consent to aid in disbanding the army or impairing its efficiency," he says, this rebel brigadier. "It is the army of the South as well as of the North." Such a sentiment from a South Carolinian would be the best evidence which could be adduced before a Fourth of July audience that the Union was really restored and the war was not after all in vain. "In the late civil contest, on many a bloody field I tested its valor, and no word or act of mine shall depreciate its valor or lessen its value." Mr. Hampton certainly does not deny that he was a rebel, a traitor, or whatever you please to call him, but amnestied and again charged with civil trusts, he expresses no regrets or repentance. We suppose this is his great sin in the eyes of stalwarts and Fourth of July committee men. They want him on his knees, with hands clasped in supplication. Such a spectacle would signify more completely to them the restoration of the Union.

Men forget that repentance is a matter between man and God rather than between man and man. There are crimes which the conscience instinctively condemns, but even for these repentance is a fact which bears very slightly on the administration of human penalty. There are other crimes, where conscience may be as strong for violating law as for abiding by it. When civil war divides the land in twain on an issue handed down through the centuries; when that issue had been forever settled by an awful sacrifice of blood and treasure; when peace has been restored, the crime of rebellion pardoned and the Union regenerated, how empty and petty the clamor for a show of repentance!

Take a Good, Sober Look at It.

Just about this time, when the power and patronage of the administration is being exerted to secure the nomination of John Sherman as the Radical candidate for President, it would be well for Hayes and Sherman to hunt up that civil service order of His Fraudulency, and take a good sober look at it. The order reads:

"EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, June 22.—SIR: I desire to call your attention to the following paragraph in a letter addressed me by the Secretary of the Treasury on the conduct to be observed by officers of the General Government in relation to the elections: "No officer shall be required or permitted to take part in the management of political organizations, caucuses, conventions or election campaigns. Their right to vote and to express their views on public questions, either orally or through the press, is not denied, provided it does not interfere with the discharge of their official duties. No assessment for political purposes on officers or subordinates shall be allowed." This rule is applicable to every department of the civil service. It should be understood by every officer of the General Government that he is expected to conform his conduct to its requirements.

"Very respectfully,

"R. B. HAYES."

Oatmeal FOR Dyspepsia.

In the last five years the consumption of Oatmeal in this country has probably increased twenty-fold. People differ so much in their likes and dislikes that we do not insist on anybody eating oatmeal because somebody else does, but the great growth of its popularity as an anti-dyspeptic is beyond doubt. Generally the Irish and Scotch Meals are considered best, but they sell comparatively high, and persons who have used both say that the Canadian and American Meals are just as good; these latter retail for 6¼c. per lb. against 15c. for former.

Oatmeal should be well cooked. As it is usually made it may be soaked ver night, and then boiled like mush for, say half an hour. No doubt it is most wholesome eaten plain, but the temptation to use various dressings—generally sugar or cream—is too strong for any but very firm seekers, but where these are taken it should be as the Friends say, in "moderation."

It is endorsed by the direct pe sonal testi mony of men of na ional fame and strictness of speech It is not too much to say that no medicine ever had such support in its favor as a specific. The word of any one of the eminent divines who underwrite this antidote to dyspepsia has deserved weight. Their united witness joined with the experimental use and ap roval of the preparation by well known physicians, removes all doubt. It is beyond question, a wonderful therapeutical agent —Edit rs Religious Herald, Va.

Chaplain Randolph Macon College, Va.

Many cases of Dysp psia within my knowledge have been cured by it. Cramps, Colics, Headaches and all sorts of pains from indigestion yield promptly to it. The cures of this sort ar innum rable.

It is h ghly esteemed here by the regular Medical Faculty and the people. It is excellent for Indigestion and Flatulent Colic, sedative, soporific, tonic, slightly ape ent, without nausea.

Rev B. F. Woodward, P. E., Na. Conf,

About twelve years I suffered from Dyspepsia. Falling in with this remedy, I gave it a fair trial. After its use I could eat anything with imunity. I am sure I am indebted to this medicine for what of health a d physical comfort I have had for the last sixteen years. I have known many since to be relieved by its use.

R v Robert W. Watts, A. M., Va.

I have used the mixture in my family for years, and have taken it for a Dyspepsia Colic, which threatened my life, and was cured, eating any diet without hurt I have recommended it to other sufferers with happiest results. It is the best tonic and corrective I ever knew For protration from Dyspepsia or Liver Disease it is invaluable

J D. Eggleston, M D, Va.

It is a highly valuable remedy, and is more extensively used than any single article in the whole list of medicines, so far as I observed in my practice, for all the complaints i families from indigestion, I use it and recommend it.

THE INVENTION OF THE AGE.

Talbott's new Patent Spark Arrester is really the only perfect and reliable one, and is superseding all others in use. The great efficiency of this Arrester is attracting universal attention, and is being endorsed by the best mechanical engineers and insurance companies. Its prominent features are:

It does not destroy the draft.

It does not interfere with cleaning the tubes.

It will not choke up, and requires no cleaning.

It requires no direct dampers to be opened when raising steam (dampers being objectionable, as they may be left open and allow sparks to escape.)

It requires no water to extinguish sparks, which, by condensation, destroys the draft. Besides, when water is used, if neglected, the efficiency is destroyed by evaporation of the water, and the boiler is kept in a filthy condition.

It is simple and durable, and can be relied upon.

It can be attached to any boiler.

No planter should be without one of them. Insurance companies will insure gins and barns where the Talbott Engines and Spark Arresters are used at same rate as charged for water or horse-power.

The Digest of Cited Cases

IN THE

North Carolina Reports.

By Hon. A. W. Tourgee.

We are happy to announce to the legal profession that this valuable work is now ready for delivery to subscribers. The labor of preparation and the necessity of securing the utmost possible accuracy in the immense number of citations, has necessarily delayed the work, but the result cannot but be satisfactory to every practioner. It contains every case in the Reports of the State which has been cited by the Court, the cases in which cited, whether with approval or disapproval, with a careful digest of the point of citati n, with a full and accurate index to the subject matter of each. In form, matter, completeness and style of publication, it is undoubtedly the best law book ever published in the State containing 750 large double-column pages, 5,162 cited cases and about 30,000 citations.

It will be mailed to subscribers on receipt of the price $12 with 25 cents for postage. Or sent by Express C. O. D. when there is an office convenient. Persons desiring to have the work should order at once, as the edition is a limited one.

How the Indians Made Their Arrow Heads.

A young scientist in the Smithsonian Institute, named Cushing, has just made public the discovery of the method employed in making the stone and volcanic glass arrow heads, daggers, knives, axes and razors of the prehistoric races. Up to this time this has been a great problem to all antiquarian students, but no theory has ever been advanced showing such practical results as Cushing's. He started to solve the problem by putting himself in the identical position of the Aztec or Mound Builders—without anything to work with except sticks, various shaped stones such as he could find on the banks of any stream, and his hands. After making some rude implements by chipping one flint with another, he discovered that no amount of chipping would produce surfaces like the best of those he was trying to imitate. He therefore came to the conclusion that there was another way of doing it, and, by chance, tried pressure with the point of a stick, instead of chipping by blows of a stone; when, presto! he found that he could break stone, flint and obsidian in any shape he chose. Shortly he had made spearheads and daggers that would cut like a razor, as good as any he had before him, which had been picked up from all over the world. By a little more observation, he found that the "flaking," which he calls his process, on the old arrow-head left grooves that all turned one way. He produced a like result by turning his stick the easiest way from right to left. He, therefore, concludes that the prehistorics were right-handed people like ourselves. This conclusion is reinforced by the fact that occasionally an arrowhead is found that has flakes running from left to right, showing a left-handed person. The importance of the discovery is that it shows the prehistorics to have been able to do this thing without the use of iron or bronze, a thing long doubted.

A Valuable County Possession.

The authorities of Dooly county, Ga., have an elephant on their hands. A fire in a neighboring county which destroyed valuable records prompted them to buy of a northern firm a fire proof safe about half as large as a freight car and weighing nine thousand pounds. Twelve mules moved it at a cost of $150 three miles from the railroad, but there it stuck and refused to move any further toward its destination, Vienna, the county seat, still nine miles away. Three commissioners were appointed who took up their lodging in the safe, and issued a circular therefrom offering a hundred dollars reward for the best plan of getting over the difficulty. Competitors are numerous. One suggests building a railroad to it, another thinks a canal the thing, another flippantly recommends making it a summer resort, and yet another sagaciously says: "Move Vienna up to the safe." This last plan would have been adopted as the cheapest, but the safe unfortunately happens to be stuck in another county. At last accounts the commissioners still had their headquarters in the safe.

Medical.

LIVER

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person about three gallons passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes diseased, and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. MERRELL'S HEPATINE, the great vegetable discovery for torpidity, causes the Liver to throw off from one to two ounces of bile each time the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile, and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown dirty looking skin, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappear. The cure of all bilious diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking HEPATINE in accordance with directions. Headache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disease that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given.

Their first apparent effect is to increase the appetite by causing the food to properly assimilate. Thus the system is nourished, and by their tonic action on the digestive organs, regular and healthy evacuations are produced.

The rapidity with which PERSONS TAKE ON FLESH while under the influence of these pills, indicates their adaptability to nourish the body, hence their efficacy in curing nervous debility, melancholy, dyspepsia, wasting of the muscles, sluggishness of the liver, chronic constipation, and imparting health & strength to the system. Burke County, W. N. Carolina.

The unprecedented success with which the proprietors have met during the past, and their first season having had some five hundred visitors, will encourage them to make further extensive improvements, as it is their ambition to make this the first Watering Place South.

Many persons having received such great benefit during the past season from the use of our Lithia Waters, we have concluded to place it upon the market, and it will be found for by all the leading druggists in the State.

Sparkling Catawba Springs,

CATAWBA CO., N. C.

This desirable watering place will be open for select visitors 20th May, 1879. The Springs are situated near Hickory Station, on the Western North Carolina Railroad.

The bracing mountain atmosphere, with the health restoring properties of their waters, renders these Springs a most desirable resort for invalids and pleasure seekers.

The mineral waters embrace Blue and White Sulphur and Chalybeate. It is the best and most extensively fitted up watering place in the State, and can accommodate three hundred persons.

A good Band of Music will remain at the Springs during the season, and all the facilities afforded for amusements usually found at first-class watering places will be offered to visitors. A good supply of ice constantly on hand.

Conveyances will meet the trains daily at Hickory Station, to convey visitors to the Springs.

BOARD—$2 per day; $30 per month. Reduced rates for families. Invalids can have the advantage of four different mineral waters, warm and cold baths, Turkish, hot-air, vapor and medicated baths if desired.

S. D. HARRISON.—For rent.
PINAFORE—At Tucker Hall.
J. P. MILLER.—$1,000 Reward.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——Revenue receipts yesterday $1-891.37.

——Mayor Manly is confined to his house by illness.

——A drummer's license was issued yesterday to E. Campe, Norfolk, Va.

——Slater's String Band will spend the summer at Catawba Springs.

——The hotel registers show an influx of visitors. Commencement is the cause.

——The National Hotel appears to be the Raleigh head quarters for the students of Wake Forest.

——To-morrow is the day set for the picnic of the Person street M. E. Sunday school.

——Charlotte wants a brass band. We can lend her ours during practice hours, after that we want them back again.

——Raleigh is so full of odors that it is manifest to the countryman at least one half mile from the city.

——The society of "Drones" will meet this evening in front of Ennis' book store for work in the first degree. By order of the captain.

——After the young lady goeth home from school the young man with the flower on his lappel will go to the base ball field for recreation.

——The regular semi-monthly meeting of St. John's Guild will be held at the Reading Room this (Wednesday) evening at 8 o'clock. A full meeting is desired.

——Judge A. C. Avery has been appointed by the Governor to hold the special term of the Superior Court of Randolph county, on the second Monday in July, the 14th proximo.

——H. W. Mayo, sheriff of Alexander county, brought down Sarah Wyckoff, white, convicted of murdering her husband and sentenced to imprisonment for life.

——Miss Mattoon, of Peace Institute, is a graduate in calisthenics, of Elmira College, N. Y., and not Cooper Institute, as a gentleman remarked yesterday.

——Judge Tourgee has turned author. "Figs and Thistles," a novel he is now completing, will be issued from the press of Herbert & Howard early in September next.

——A gentle mule in one of his mild moods yesterday morning, undressed himself in Martin street and went on a voyage of discovery. Mr. Man picked himself up, gathered up his lace fringed bridle and folding saddle and went in search of of his mild-eyed gazelle.

——Peter Blum, Jr., son of old man Peter, was before the United States Commissioner yesterday on a charge of counterfeiting, in 1878. Charges sustained, and he was held in a $200 bond to appear at the next term of the Federal Court.

——Wanted—at the Probate Judge's office, a new court house with a vault in it, to save the records of the county from possible destruction by fire. The County Commissioners will no doubt make an appropriation for this purpose at once.

——A subscriber asks why it is the post master at Raleigh does not keep on hand any of the $10 funding certificates? A number of worthy workingmen of this city are interested to know, as they would like to invest without paying a premium.

[A subscriber is informed that the above-mentioned certificates have been used up to the limit, therefore no more will be issued.]

——There is no spot more lovely, pleasant and agreeable than the Capitol grounds. Every night couples frequent it, and it is now the rendezvous of the ladies and gentlemen who wish to enjoy the pleasant attractions that it affords. Benches are located in most convenient places where you can woo (they tell us) without putting the old folks to any inconvenience, or without any one overhearing what you may have to say.

Pinafore.

This amusing operetta, which has been the rage throughout the land for the past six months, is to be given at Tucker Hall on Friday evening, for the benefit of the musical fund of Christ Church, by the ladies and gentlemen of the choir, with the kind assistance of some members of other choirs and other musical talent of the city.

Well Spoken Of.

Hon E. G. Reade says of "TOURGEE'S DIGEST OF CITED CASES:" "I find it admirable. It will give him who has it such an advantage over him who has it not, that every practicing lawyer will find it necessary. The price is sometimes considered high, but it ought not to be, as it contains, in a single volume, all that is useful in all other Digests (four volumes) and the decisions since the date of the last." Price $12.00. Alfred Williams & Co., Publishers, Raleigh.

A Trip to Wake Forest.

Mr. Jordan Womble, Jr., the senior book-keeper of the State National Bank, leaves this morning for Wake Forest, to attend the Commencement exercises. A more accomplished and genial gentleman cannot be found. For a number of years he has been connected with the State National Bank, and has never missed a day from that institution except to attend the annual commencement exercises at Wake Forest. He has a married daughter living near the college, and one or two pretty cousins that he always desires to see.

Supreme Court.

Court met at 10 o'clock on yesterday. All the Justices present.

SECOND DISTRICT.

Johnstone Jones vs. A T Mial et al from Wake; argued on petition to rehear. Merrimon, Fuller & Ashe for plaintiff, and E G Haywood and J B Batchelor for defendants. Pending the argument in this case the Court adjourned until to-day at ten o'clock.

Needing Attention.

It seems strange that in a city like Raleigh that a parcel of young men should be allowed to hang around the church doors at every evening meeting held, who have no greater interest than to stare at and pass remarks on every woman that passes in or out. This practice appears to have become so firmly established that admonitions are of no further avail, and the only way to remedy the evil is for the Mayor to detail a policeman for each church.

Justice's Court.

Mary Jane Thomas took offense at Julia Edwards and thereupon proceeded to show her how easily it could be done. She succeeded in her undertaking but Julia concluded to interview Justice Barbee on the subject, and Mary Jane was invited to explain things, which she did so much to the satisfaction of the court that the sable sisters had to pay costs.

Personal.

Governor and Mrs. Jarvis have gone to Trinity.

Mr. George Allen, of New Berne, is in the city, to attend the exercises at Peace Institute, of which he is a stockholder.

Dr. R. A. Kinloch, of Charleston, S. C., is in the city in attendance on the exercises at Peace, where his accomplished daughter has just graduated, and carries with her the admirations and affection of all who know her.

Colonel W. H. Avera, of the Goldsboro Mail; Clement Manly, Esq., of the New Berne bar; Maj. A Gordon, a leading planter of the lower Neuse; Dr. D. G. W. Ward, an old wheelhorse of the Edgecombe Democracy; Prof. Redd and Grandy of the University of North Carolina; Rev. C. Durham, S. G. Jones, Esq., Mr. W. A. Davis, of Oxford, and George Allen, of New Berne, the most enterprising and pluckiest business man in North Carolina, are at the National Hotel.

The Way Vanderbilt Succeeded.

When Commodore Vanderbilt was running steamboats, he beat all rivals by crowding on steam to the utmost, and even running down his enemy if necessary, to accomplish a triumph. When he went into railroading, he adopted a much shrewder and more successful way, by uniting vast lines and their tributaries under his own management, thus capturing all rivals, by sharing with them the immense pool of profits that were made by his skillful manipulation. Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y., accomplish a much greater success in stock operations by their new Combiation Method of dealing. By this system the orders of thousands of customers are pooled into one vast sum and co-operated under the most experienced management, thus giving to each share holder all the benefits of large capital and best skill. Profits divided monthly. Any amount from $5 to $25,000 can be used with great success, $15 will make $75 profit. $80 would return $750 or 9 per cent. on the stock during the month, according to the market. The new circular (mailed free) has "two unerring rules for success" and full explanations, so that any one can operate profitably. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y. City.

An Unfailing Evidence of Good Taste.

The judicious use of some delicate perfume is an unfailing evidence of good taste. The most polished of all lands class sweet scents among their most important luxuries. Dr. Price's Meadow Flowers, Pet Rose, etc., are the gems of all odors.

Fortune's Wheel.—(Alfred Tennyson.)

"Turn, Fortune, turn thy wheel, and lower the proud;
Turn thy wild wheel through sunshine, storm and cloud—
Thy wheel we neither love nor hate.

"Turn, Fortune, turn thy wheel, with smile or frown;
With that wild wheel we go not up or down;
Our hoard is little, but our hearts are great.

"Smile, and we smile, the lords of many lands;
Frown and we smile, the lords of our own hands,
For man is man, and masters of his fate."

The next grand Semi-Annual Distribution of the Louisiana State Lottery is at noon on Tuesday, June 17th, at New Orleans, under the sole management of Generals Beauregard and Early. Unheard of Bargains!

Who tries his best to please his friends
And in his labors never ends,
Bargains he'll give you when you call
For No. 10 is all and all.
Of other houses you hear them talk;
In Fayetteville street just take a walk
And only ask for No. 10,
Kept by the most ingenious of men,
And when his friends by chance drop in
Then forth he comes, Lord what a grin,
And to their wondering eyes displays
Such heaps of brackets and window shades.
His pictures are exposed to public view
And a variety of cord to suspend them too,
His looking glasses and toilet cases
Will help adorn your forms and faces;
Picture frames and mouldings too
In great variety, black, brown and blue.
His window cornices and lambrequins fine,
Will make your rooms and parlor shine.
Perforated mottoes, and white holly baskets.
And every other sort of stuff,
Of which he hopes to have enough.
So now he bids you all adieu
And wishes a happy new year too,
And not forget
